

Position: QA Engineer

CommerceHub is a leading provider of hosted supplier integration and order management services for multi-channel retailers. We are currently in an exciting period of balanced growth and stability that provides an ideal work environment. This position works with the development team to ensure the delivery of high quality, reliable application solutions.

Responsibilities:

- Analyze and test requirements on a project by project basis
- Continual Maintenance on Testing Environment Variables
- Writing of test plans and testcases for development and execution using project requirements
- Risk analysis and support for seamless product release
- Troubleshooting problems with in the testing environment that may impact product stability
- Contributing to software engineering process improvement efforts across the business

Qualifications/Requirements:

- BS in Computer Science or equivalent is highly desired
- Strong verbal and written communication skills
- Excellent problem-solving and organizational skills

Experience:

- Experience in Java/Groovy/Grails is preferred
- Knowledge and experience working with SQL statements and programming
- Working knowledge of XML or HTML
- Industry best practices for requirements and testing
- Experience working in a highly dynamic atmosphere, capable of multi-tasking, and able to work within challenging time frames

Additional Desired Experience:

- Experience with Selenium or any other automated testing tool
- Experience with XPATH and understanding of EDI

This is a challenging growth position which requires an experienced candidate who works well alone or as part of a larger team effort. CommerceHub offers competitive compensation, 401k, health benefits & outstanding growth opportunities.